

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

PATSY D. CORMIER,

Plaintiff,

v.

UNIVERSAL BANK, N.A., et al.,

Defendants.

CASE NO. C04-2536RSM

ORDER GRANTING MOTION
TO DISMISS

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on defendant Universal Bank N.A.'s (now known as Citibank North Dakota, N.A.)<sup>1</sup> motion to dismiss for failure to state an actionable claim, pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. (Dkt. #14).

Plaintiff Patsy D. Cormier filed her Complaint pro se, on behalf of herself and "all others similarly situated," against defendants Universal Bank N.A., Suttell & Associates (a law firm), three individual member attorneys of Suttell & Associates, Alliance One Receivables Management, Inc., and two Washington State Court judges, the Honorable Thomas J. Wynne and the Honorable Joseph A. Thibodeau. (Dkt. #1).<sup>2</sup> The Complaint alleges a violation of <sup>1</sup> Universal Bank merged with Citibank South Dakota, N.A., in January 2002; thereafter, Citibank became the issuer of the Universal Account. Accordingly, the Court will refer to Citibank as a defendant throughout this Order.

1 federal racketeering laws, 18 U.S.C. § § 1961-1962, apparently stemming from Citibank's efforts
 2 to collect $15,783.00 in credit card debt from plaintiff.

3 Plaintiff has opposed Citibank's motion to dismiss, arguing that it "is an arrogant
 4 imposition on this court interposed for the purposes of harassment and wasting this court's time).
 5 (Dkt. #19).

6 For the reasons set forth below, the Court GRANTS Citibank's motion to dismiss, and 7 dismisses plaintiff's Complaint against it.

8 II. BACKGROUND

9 Plaintiff alleges that defendants have violated the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt
 10 Organizations Act ("RICO"), 18 U.S.C. § § 1961-1962. Although it is not entirely clear from 11 the Complaint, plaintiff appears to allege that defendants Catherine M. Kelly, William G. Suttell,
 12 and Doug R. Brown, attorneys with the law firm Suttell & Associates, along with Suttell &
 13 Associates itself, are engaged in a "debt collection fraud racket." (Dkt. #1 at 3). According to 14 plaintiff, the fraud racket works as follows:

15 In a back room of the Chicago Board of Trade, worthless bundles of 16 commercial paper in the form of copies of charged off debt are sold at auction
 17 or from "debt purchasing" organizations . . . The typical face value of the 18 bundles often amounts to tens of millions of dollars. The original makers of 19 the loans including mortgagees and credit card debt are rarely harmed because 20 they most often have hypothecated the loan and have risked nothing. Actors 21 up the line from such artists as Catherine M. Kelley then break apart the 22 bundles and resell the worthless commercial paper in clusters based on who the 23 original creditor is and what the geographic location of the origin of the 24 individual copies. Artists such as Catherine M. Kelly are the actual "end user"
 25 holders in due course although typically in the scam, artists such as SUTTELL
 26 & ASSOCIATES invest as little as 75 cents on the hundred dollar face amount
 27 for the worthless commercial paper, then allege they are third party debt
 28 collectors attempting to collect for the original maker of the loan. Enterprises such as SUTTELL & ASSOCIATES, in turn, mark up the worthless commercial paper and resell to artists such as Kelley, who, for very small investment, use threat, coercion, intimidation, and deception to defraud and extort money and property from parties such as Patsy D. Cormier.

(Dkt. #1 at 3-4).

Plaintiff also apparently alleges that Catherine M. Kelley subjected her to "sham legal proceedings" and that Judge Wynne was either "on the take" and "receiving kickbacks and

1 bribes from Kelley,” or lacked “both the ethical and professional integrity to make decisions
2 affecting other people’s lives.” (Dkt. #1 at 4). Plaintiff further alleges that Suttell & Associates
3 and Kelley are guilty of fraud and extortion because Kelly filed a “fraudulent security instrument”
4 alleging that defendant was indebted to Citibank in the amount of $15,783.00 (Dkt. #1 at 4-6).

5 Plaintiff claims that as a result of these actions, she has been “deprived of business
6 opportunities and been damaged in [her] business enterprises.” (Dkt. #1 at 7). She asks the 7 Court to order the dissolution of Citibank South Dakota, N.A. and Suttell & Associates, and 8 direct the defendants to pay plaintiff and “others similarly situated” unspecified damages in the 9 amount of “not less than three times the collective sums of property and losses to businesses of 10 all who are similarly situated.” (Dkt. #1 at 10).

11 III. DISCUSSION

12 Citibank argues that plaintiff’s complaint should be dismissed for failure to state a claim 13 upon which relief can be granted, pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil 14 Procedure. (Dkt. #14). The Court agrees. Although plaintiff has named Citibank as a defendant
15 in this action, she has failed to make any allegations regarding wrongdoing by Citibank.
16 Plaintiff’s Complaint offers no facts, only conclusions and unsupported allegations.

17 Additionally, plaintiff has failed to state a RICO claim against Citibank. In order to 18 succeed on her RICO claim, plaintiff must establish (1) the conduct (2) of an enterprise (3)
19 through a pattern (4) of racketeering activity. Smith v. Jackson, 84 F.3d 1213, 1217 (9th Cir.
20 1996). “Enterprise” is defined as “any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other 21 legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity”.
22 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4). “Racketeering activity” is defined as (1) any act or threat involving, inter
23 alia, extortion, which is chargeable under State law and punishable by imprisonment for more
24 than one year; or (2) any act which is indictable under certain provisions of Title 18. 18 U.S.C. § 25 1961(1) and (5).

26 The Complaint fails to establish any elements of a RICO claim. First, plaintiff has failed
27 to establish that Citibank is an enterprise as defined under the RICO Act. Plaintiff’s Complaint
28 focuses on the activities of certain attorneys and judges apparently involved in collection actions

1 against plaintiff. The mere association of Citibank with those defendants is not enough to
2 establish an “enterprise.” Furthermore, the complaint contains no allegations that Citibank,
3 Kelley, and Judges Wynne and Thibodeau comprise an ongoing organization or unit.
4 Accordingly, plaintiff has provided no indication that Citibank is an enterprise.

5 Second, plaintiff has failed to establish a pattern of racketeering activity. Although 6 plaintiff alleges that Kelley, Suttell and Brown, and Suttell & Associates have filed fraudulent
7 security instruments, plaintiff alleges no facts supporting why or how these filings constitute 8 illegal conduct under the RICO Act. Plaintiff also fails to identify any specific “fraud” or 9 “extortion” within the scope of the RICO Act. This failure violates Rule 9(b) of the Federal 10 Rules of Civil Procedure which requires that plaintiff raise any allegations with particularity. In 11 this case, she must establish the four elements of a RICO claim: 1) two or more predicate
12 offenses; (2) the existence of an enterprise; (3) a nexus between the pattern of racketeering
13 activity and the enterprise; and (4) an injury to business. See H.J. Inc. v. Northwestern Bell
14 Telephone Co., 492 U.S. 229, 237-38 (1989); Snowden v. Lexmark Int’l, 237 F.3d 620, 621 (6th
15 Cir. 2001). Plaintiff has established none of those elements. Furthermore, plaintiff’s conclusory 16 allegations of extortion are woefully inadequate, particularly because she fails to identify any 17 property that Citibank may have obtained from her. 18 U.S.C. § 1951(b)(2). Although plaintiff
18 may not agree that she owes money to Citibank, she has not alleged any activity that is indictable
19 under the RICO Act.

20 Finally, plaintiff alleges no facts establishing an injury to business as required by the 21 RICO Act. Plaintiff identifies no money paid to Citibank, Kelley or Suttell & Associates, nor 22 does she identify any personal business that has been harmed by the alleged actions of 23 defendants.

24 While plaintiff has opposed the motion to dismiss, she addresses none of the legal 25 arguments raised by Citibank. (See Dkt. #19). Instead, she engages in a personal attack on 26 Citibank’s attorney, going so far as to call for sanctions against him, apparently all based on her 27 belief that he is not allowed to file a motion to dismiss under 12(b)(6) because the Court must 28 accept her allegations as true. (Dkt. #19 at 2-3). Unfortunately for plaintiff, that is simply

1 incorrect. Accordingly, for all of the reasons set forth above, the Court agrees that plaintiff has 2 failed to state any actionable claim against Citibank.

3 IV. Leave to Amend Complaint

4 In dismissing a Complaint for failure to state a claim, a district court should normally
5 grant leave to amend unless it determines that the pleading could not be cured by the allegations
6 of additional facts. Doe v. United States, 58 F.3d 494, 497 (9th Cir. 1995). In this case, the 7 Court finds that the Complaint can not be cured by additional alleged facts by plaintiff. Plaintiff's
8 RICO allegations appear to be "borrowed" from a form complaint filed in numerous other 9 actions, and do not make sense when applied to what little factual history has been provided in 10 this case. Accordingly, the Court will not grant plaintiff leave to amend the complaint.

11 V. CONCLUSION

12 Based on the analysis set forth above, the Court GRANTS defendant Citibank's Motion
13 to Dismiss (Dkt. #14), and DISMISSES the Complaint against Citibank South Dakota, N.A., 14 named as Universal Bank S.A. in the Complaint. Plaintiff shall not be allowed leave to amend 15 the Complaint.

16 The Clerk is directed to send copies of this Order to plaintiff and all counsel of record.
